

Notice of Your Rights After Fee Arbitration

(Revised October 5, 2001; July 11, 2008; Nov. 16, 2009; May 17, 2010; Feb. 29, 2012)

The arbitrator's award deciding your fee dispute is enclosed. Please read the award carefully.

This notice will explain the rights you may have now that the arbitration is completed. To understand your rights, you must first determine whether the award is binding or non-binding, which should be stated in the award.

If you are not satisfied with the award, you should follow the instructions below to protect your rights. If you are satisfied with the award, please see Part 1G below if your award is non-binding or Part 2C and D if your award was binding or has become binding. If you are unsure of your rights or have questions after reading this pamphlet, you should consult an attorney.

Each of the procedures described in this Notice has an important deadline. You may lose your legal rights if you miss these deadlines.

PART 1 - Rights After Non-Binding Arbitration

If the arbitration award is non-binding, you may have a right to a new trial in court. At the trial, you will have the opportunity to present evidence to a judge who will issue a new decision about the fee dispute without regard to the arbitration award. However, if you did not appear at your fee arbitration hearing, you will have to prove to the court that you had a good reason for not being there. If the court determines that your failure to appear was willful, you may not be entitled to a trial after arbitration.

The court will charge a filing fee or first appearance fee unless you are unable to pay them and request a waiver of fees and costs. Use Judicial Council Form FW-001 INFO [Information Sheet on Waiver of Court Fees and Costs], FW-001 [Request to Waive Court Fees] and FW-003 [Order on Court Fee Waiver]. These forms are available online at <http://www.courts.ca.gov/forms.htm> and at the court clerk's office.

Although you are generally entitled to a trial after non-binding arbitration without explaining your reasons for doing so, you may prefer to petition to correct the award, or vacate the award and have a new arbitration with a new arbitration panel. See Part 2B below for further information on the remedies for correcting and vacating an arbitration award. Since these remedies apply only on proof of specified grounds, you may wish to preserve your right to trial in court in case the court denies these remedies. To preserve your right to a new trial, you will need to file your papers in the proper court within 30 days after the award was mailed to you, as shown on the proof of service attached to the award. If your case is in superior court, you should consult an attorney if you wish to pursue correcting or vacating the award while preserving your right to a trial in court. If your case is in small claims court, Judicial Council Form SC-101 (described below in Part 1C) may be used.

A. HOW LONG DO I HAVE TO ACT?

If you want a trial in court, you must file your papers in court within 30 days after the date the arbitration award was served on you. The date the arbitration award was served is printed on the Proof of Service attached to the award.

Failure to request a trial after a non-binding arbitration award within the 30-day period will change the arbitration award into a binding award.

B. HOW DO I GET A TRIAL IN COURT?

You must file documents in the proper court within the 30 day limit.

C. WHAT DOCUMENTS MUST I FILE? IN WHAT COURT MUST I FILE THEM?

That depends upon whether a lawsuit about the fees has already been filed.

(1) Yes - lawsuit already filed.

If a lawsuit about the fees has already been filed, then you must file a Rejection of Arbitration Award and Request for Trial After Attorney-Client Fee Arbitration with the same court under the same case number. The bar association does not provide this document. If the lawsuit was filed in superior court, Judicial Council form ADR-104 [Rejection of Award and Request for Trial After Attorney-Client Fee Arbitration] may be used, but you may need a lawyer's help in filing and pursuing your case. If the lawsuit was filed in small claims court, you may discuss this with a Small Claims Court Advisor. The Small Claims Court has Judicial Council forms to use (forms SC-100 [see page 4-Information for the Defendant], SC-101 [Attorney Fee Dispute (After Arbitration)] and SC-120 [Defendant's Claim and ORDER to Go to Small Claims Court]) for this purpose. These forms are available online at <http://www.courts.ca.gov/forms.htm> and at the court clerk's office.

(2) No - lawsuit not yet filed.

If no lawsuit about the fees has been filed yet, then you must file your own lawsuit in the proper court.

(a) Proper Court.

You may file in small claims court if the amount of money in controversy involves no more than $5,000. Otherwise, the superior court is the proper court.

(b) How to file a lawsuit.

A lawsuit is brought by filing papers with the court. The bar association does not have papers or forms to use. If you are filing a lawsuit in small claims court, you should file Judicial Council forms SC-100 [Plaintiffs Claim and Order to Go to Small Claims Court] and SC-101 [Attorney Fee Dispute (After Arbitration)]. You should also file SC-104 [Proof of Service.] If you are filing a lawsuit in the superior court, you may need a lawyer's help to file your papers. Judicial Council form ADR-104 [Rejection of Award and Request for Trial After Attorney-Client Fee Arbitration] should be filed with the superior court. Even if you are not seeking monies from the other party, to reject an award, you still must file a lawsuit, unless you choose to vacate the award if certain requirements are met as set forth in Part 2B below.

Judicial Council forms are available online at <http://www.courts.ca.gov/forms.htm> and at the court clerk's office.

D. DO I RISK ANYTHING BY FILING FOR A TRIAL IN COURT?

Yes. After a new trial, the court may make a decision that is less favorable to you than the arbitration award. The losing party in court may be ordered to pay the prevailing party's attorney's fees and costs. You will be the losing party if you do no better in court than you did in the arbitration.

E. EXCEPTION TO RIGHT TO NEW TRIAL IN COURT: PRE-EXISTING PRIVATE ARBITRATION AGREEMENT

There is an exception to your right to a new trial in court following non-binding mandatory fee arbitration if the attorney and client previously agreed to resolve disputes over fees and costs through private arbitration. If such an agreement exists, and either party acts to reject the award in court within the required 30 day time period after service of the award, either party may be entitled to resolve the dispute through the agreed upon private arbitration instead of a new trial in court.

F. DO I HAVE A RIGHT TO REQUEST THAT THE ARBITRATOR(S) CORRECT OR AMEND THE AWARD?

Once the arbitration award has been served, the arbitrator(s) may not reconsider the same or any new evidence presented after the case has been submitted for a decision. However, the arbitrator(s) may correct the award only if the award contains a miscalculation of figures, or an evident mistake in the description of any person, thing or property referred to in the award or if the award is imperfect in a matter of form not affecting the merits of the controversy. You may request a correction of the award with the program as long as you file your request with the program within 10 days of the date of service of the award and serve a copy on the other party. The arbitrator(s) must correct or deny correction of the award within 30 days of the date of service of the award.

If you believe that the arbitrator(s) failed to include a finding or issue raised in the hearing, then you may request an amendment of the award. You must file your request promptly with the program and serve a copy on the other party. The arbitrator(s) on their own may amend the award any time prior to judicial confirmation of the award. Seeking an amendment or correction of the award by the arbitrator is not permitted to challenge or appeal the arbitrator's findings or conclusions.

G. WHAT IF I AM SATISFIED WITH THE AWARD?

If you are satisfied with the award, wait 30 days. The non-binding award will become binding automatically if the other party does not file for a trial in court within the 30 day period after service of the award. Once the award becomes binding, see Part 2C and D to find out what to do next.

H. WHAT SHOULD I DO IF THE OTHER PARTY FILES IN COURT TO REJECT THE NON-BINDING AWARD?

You must respond to the other party's request for trial after arbitration to avoid losing your right to participate in a trial about the fees, even if you are satisfied with the non-binding award. If no lawsuit was pending before arbitration, the other party has 30 days after the date the non-binding award was served to file an "action" in the court having jurisdiction over the amount of money in controversy. You will then become a defendant in the lawsuit, and a trial about the fees will take place in court. The judge will not consider the determinations of the arbitrators or the arbitration award except for limited purposes. (For example, see Paragraph G below.)

If the action is filed in small claims court and your claim against the other party involves less than $5,000 or it involves more but you are willing to give up the amount over $5,000, you may file a Defendant's Claim and may use Judicial Council form SC-120 [Defendant's Claim and ORDER to Go to Small Claims Court]. Otherwise, you should file a motion to transfer the case to the appropriate court for the full value of your claim.

If the lawsuit (action) after arbitration by the other party is filed in superior court, then you may need a lawyer's help to respond to the lawsuit.

If a lawsuit about the fees was pending in superior court before the fee arbitration, and the other party files to reject the arbitration award and requests a trial after arbitration, you must file a response within 30 days following service of the rejection of the award and request for trial after arbitration.

Failure to respond to the other party's request for trial after arbitration may result in a default judgment entered against you.

I. IS A PARTY WHO DID NOT APPEAR FOR FEE ARBITRATION ENTITLED TO A NEW TRIAL (OR ARBITRATION)?

If a party willfully fails to appear at the arbitration hearing in the manner provided by the arbitration program, the court may determine that the party is not entitled to a trial after arbitration. The party who failed to appear has to prove that his or her failure to appear was not willful. In making its determination, the court may consider the findings made by the arbitrators on the subject of the party's failure to appear.

If the parties previously agreed to submit fee disputes to private arbitration other than mandatory fee arbitration, a party's willful failure to appear for the fee arbitration hearing may deprive the non-appearing party of the right to obtain arbitration after fee arbitration.

PART 2 - Rights after Binding Arbitration

A. WHAT ARE MY RIGHTS IF THE ARBITRATION AWARD IS BINDING?

If the arbitration award is binding, there is no right to a new trial in court or other arbitration. Even so, a binding award can be corrected or vacated (overturned) by a court, but only on limited grounds as set forth in Code of Civil Procedure section 1286.2 (see attached excerpts of the statute). If an award is vacated, the court may order a new arbitration with the same bar association with a new arbitration panel.

B. WHAT IF I AM DISSATISFIED WITH A BINDING AWARD?

A court has the power to vacate (overturn) an arbitration award, but only on very narrow grounds. The statutory grounds for vacating an award (Code of Civil Procedure section 1286.2) are limited to the following:

- The award was procured by corruption, fraud or other undue means.
- There was corruption in any of the arbitrators.
- The rights of the party were substantially prejudiced by misconduct of an arbitrator.
- The arbitrators exceeded their powers and the award cannot be corrected without affecting the merits of the decision upon the controversy submitted.
- The rights of the party were substantially prejudiced by the refusal of the arbitrators to postpone the hearing upon sufficient cause being shown therefore or by the refusal of the arbitrators to hear evidence material to the controversy or by other conduct of the arbitrators contrary to the provisions of this title.
- An arbitrator making the award either (1) failed to disclose within the time required for disclosure a ground for disqualification of which the arbitrator was then aware; or (2) was subject to disqualification upon grounds specified in Section 1281.91 but failed upon receipt of timely demand to disqualify himself or herself as required by that provision.

A court can also correct obvious mistakes in the award, such as an arithmetic miscalculation or evident mistake in the description of any person, thing or property referred to in the award.

If you think you are entitled to correct or vacate the arbitration award, please follow the instructions below to protect your rights.

(1) What must I do to vacate or correct a binding arbitration award?

You must file a petition in the proper court. Part 2B subsection (3) below describes this process.

(2) How long do I have to act?

- If you want to correct or vacate the award, you must file a petition within 100 days after the date the arbitration award was served. The date of service is on the proof of service attached to the award.
- However, if you wish to petition to vacate or correct the award but receive notice that the other side has filed a petition to confirm the award, you no longer have 100 days to file your petition. You must then respond by filing, in a timely manner, your opposition to the petition to confirm the award and your petition to vacate/correct the award.

(3) What is a petition?

A petition is a legal document that tells the court what you want and why you are entitled to it. The bar association does not provide forms for these petitions. You may need a lawyer's help to prepare your petition. If you are filing the petition in small claims court, you should use Judicial Council form SC-101 [Attorney Fee Dispute (After Arbitration)]. If you are filing the petition in the superior court, you should use Judicial Council form ADR-103 [Petition After Attorney-Client Fee Dispute Arbitration Award]. You may need a lawyer's help to assist you with a petition in the superior court.

(4) In what court do I file my petition?

That depends upon whether a lawsuit about the fees has already been filed.

(1) Yes lawsuit already filed.

If a lawsuit about the fees has already been filed, you will file your petition to vacate or correct the award with that same court under the same case number.

(2) No lawsuit not yet filed.

If no lawsuit about the fees has been filed, then you will file your petition with the court that has jurisdiction over the amount of the arbitration award. The small claims court is the proper court if the amount of the arbitration award is $5,000 or less otherwise, the superior court is the proper court.

(5) Do I risk anything by petitioning the court to correct or vacate the award?

Yes. If the award is vacated, after a new arbitration or court trial the award may be less favorable to you than the original arbitration award. If you lose, the court may order you to pay the prevailing party's attorney's fees and costs.

C. WHAT IF I AM SATISFIED WITH THE ARBITRATION AWARD AND AM OWED MONEY?

If the arbitration award grants you an amount for fees or costs or both, you should write the other party a letter and demand payment of the award amount. If you are not paid, and you are the client, you have the right to ask the State Bar of California to assist you in enforcing the award. If you want the State Bar to assist you and:

- (1) 100 days have passed from service of the award and the award is binding or became binding if neither party filed for a trial within 30 days of service of a non-binding award, or
- (2) the award has become a final judgment following a trial after arbitration or a petition to vacate, correct or confirm the award, and
- (3) the award was served less than four years ago

You may request a form for enforcement of the award by contacting the following office:

The State Bar of California
Mandatory Fee Arbitration Program
180 Howard Street, 6th Floor
San Francisco, CA 94105
(415) 538-2020

You will be required to complete a State Bar "Client's Request for Enforcement of an Arbitration Award" form. This form is available online at www.calbar.ca.gov. The attorney on the other side will be given an opportunity to respond to your request and agree to a payment plan. He or she will also be able to ask for an opportunity to prove that he or she is not responsible for paying you or is financially unable to pay the award.

The State Bar Court may place the opposing attorney on involuntary inactive status until the award is paid. An attorney on inactive status is not entitled to practice law. (Business and Professions Code section 6203(d)). Any party may contact the State Bar at the address above for a copy of the rules that govern this procedure.

Any party who is owed money has the right to request court orders allowing that party to take property or money from the other party's paycheck, and/or bank accounts. To get those court orders, you must first obtain a judgment confirming the arbitration award.

(1) How do I obtain a judgment confirming the arbitration award?

To obtain a judgment confirming the arbitration award, whether it was the result of a hearing or a stipulated agreement, you must ask (petition) for confirmation of the award with the proper court.

(a) What is a petition for confirmation?

A petition for confirmation is a legal document that tells the court what you want and why you are entitled to it. The bar association does not have forms for these petitions. You may need a lawyer's help to prepare your petition.

- If you are filing in small claims court, you should use Judicial Council form SC-101 [Attorney Fee Dispute (After Arbitration)].
- If you are filing in the superior court, you should use Judicial Council form ADR-103 [Petition to Confirm, Correct, or Vacate Attorney-Client Fee Arbitration Award].

(b) What is the proper court?

That depends on the amount you are owed. If it is $5,000 or less, the small claims court is the proper court. Otherwise, the superior court is the proper court.

(2) How long do I have to file my petition for confirmation?

You must file your petition for confirmation within four years of the date the arbitration award is served on you. That date appears on the proof of service attached to the award.

(3) What are my rights after the arbitration award is confirmed?

When the arbitration award is confirmed, it becomes a judgment of the court. Once you have a judgment, as a judgment creditor, you have a right to "execute" the judgment. That means you may be entitled to court orders allowing you to collect your money by garnishing the other party's paycheck or bank accounts, and/or placing a lien on his or her property. The court has forms to use when you execute. The bar association has no such forms.

D. WHAT IF I AM SATISFIED WITH THE ARBITRATION AWARD AND I OWE MONEY?

If you owe money, pay it. If you do not pay the award, the other party has a right to obtain a judgment confirming the award and collect the judgment.

Attached are excerpts from the California Business and Professions Code and the California Code of Civil Procedure. The first excerpt, from the Business and Professions Code, is the law that governs fee arbitrations between attorneys and their clients, as well as the authority to request a trial following non-binding arbitration. The second excerpt, from the Code of Civil Procedure, sets forth the law on confirming, vacating or correcting arbitration awards.

WATCH THOSE DEADLINES!

The deadlines we have explained in this notice are important. You can lose certain rights if you do not act before the deadlines pass.
